

Insulation Systems

Company Notice: June 2010

Interchange of old and new blowing agent versions of XPS PIB

As the new blowing agent version of XPS PIB is introduced, fabricators, contractors, and facility owners may receive either product or a mix of the two. This will not be a problem since the new and old XPS PIB products can be mixed in any way convenient for our customers, on jobs, in inventory, or as cores. You can also be confident that the existing inventory of the old XPS PIB whether as cores or billets and existing installations can continue to be used without violating the requirements related to blowing agents. It will be possible to receive either XPS PIB product until all of the previous XPS PIB in the entire product pipeline has been used up.